Darkroom Photography
For students entering grades 7–9

Explore film photography at Parker this summer! During this week-long half-day workshop, students will use analog cameras and 35 mm black and white film to train our eyes and capture what we see. Students will develop their creative voice and learn the hands-on processes of film photography in the darkroom. We will take field trips to different locations around Chicago to document and capture with our cameras. Students will learn how to shoot in manual mode, and to process and print images. This workshop will culminate with a final show!

Space is limited and a minimum number of students is required for this workshop to run.

Dates: July 13-17, 2020

Hours: Monday–Friday, 12:30 a.m.–3:00 p.m.

Cost: $400 (includes all supplies)

Program Instructor: Katie Palmer, Art Department Faculty

Ms. Palmer joined the faculty at the Francis Parker school in 2018 to teach Shop and Photography. Prior to that she was department chair and visual arts teacher at the Harvard-Westlake School for 13 years. Ms. Palmer received her BFA from the Rhode Island School of Design and her MAT from Brown University. She loves hanging with her family, making her own art, and doing yoga!